Siewwright Auto is pleased to endorse Owen Johnstone and his work on the ERQA process to the OHS Taskforce 2012. We are a small to medium sized business (SME) and have appreciated Owen's knowledge and experience in helping with staff matters and improving employee engagement. His efforts have assisted our business improve its operation. SME's do operate in isolation to a large extent and the benefit of having Owen act as an independent and impartial moderator has been a great relief during stressful times.

His commitment to helping make workplaces work better for employers and employees is obvious and a refreshing approach. Health and safety in the workplace is important to all employers and all employees and having Owen working with us and our employees as an independent and impartial ERQA moderator is invaluable to our business.

We are hopeful that the Taskforce will consider the ERQA process because we are convinced of its benefits.
